The Women's Diversity Network
47 Echo Ave., #1054
Miller Place, NY 11764-2148

Dear Friend:

Last year, the Women's Diversity Network hosted its 7th Annual Summit, with the goal of empowering and connecting women and gender-expansive people from across Long Island. It was an overwhelming success, with over 300 attendees. (To view images from last year's Summit, click here).

This year's Summit will be held at Nassau Community College on April 26, 2025. Our goal is to continue to attract over 300+ attendees and provide a high caliber of workshops and panel discussions, creative learning opportunities, and cultural displays of food and entertainment. The continued success of the Summit will both broaden the knowledge of our participants and create relationships that will be the foundation for ongoing dialogue and projects for years to come.

We cannot meet our goal for our next summit without the help of businesses and organizations like yours. Can you make a donation to help sponsor our event? Your support empowers women leaders to create positive change, break down barriers, and celebrate Long Island's diversity. We hope that we can count on you to make this year's Summit a success!

For additional information about the event, to see how a generous donation will benefit your organization, and for steps to become a sponsor, please take a look at the attached document.

If you have any questions or would like more information, please contact Kate Howlett at khowlett@womensdiversitynetwork.org.

The Women's Diversity Network Summit

Who We Are

The Women's Diversity Network (WDN) is a collaboration of established non-profit organizations and women leaders on Long Island. We have joined together in recognition of the need to create opportunities for dialogue and collaborative advocacy between our diverse communities.

The Event

The Women's Diversity Network is hosting a Summit to connect and empower all women, gender-expansive people, and allies. The Summit will foster a unified, inclusive sisterhood that mobilizes and creates positive change by:

- Educating Long Islanders around issues and policies that challenge our diverse Long Island communities;
- Empowering women to be advocates who break down barriers to justice; and
- Celebrating our diverse backgrounds.

What: The Women's Diversity Network Summit

When: Saturday, April 26, 2025

Where: Nassau Community College

Who: Our audience will include Long Island women and gender-expansive people from all walks of life, and anyone with an interest in making meaningful and authentic connections with them and their allies.

Overview

Participants will experience a full-day conference focusing on a wide range of topics. The program will include interactive, experiential, and engaging workshops, panels, and presentations. We will also have a soon-to-be-identified keynote panel of speakers. The Summit will demonstrate a "living our values" commitment by including diversity in all aspects of the event, from presenters to food and entertainment. Moreover, all break-outs will include a "Take Away" or "Next Steps" aspect to help keep the conversation going and build on the efforts begun on this day.
